CONCO Crews activities:

CONCO crews fixed all the suspected location which had leakage after the first water testing on April 18, 2001. Some pictures are attached to show the fixed locations. The CONCO crew started water testing of the East line saddle form around 100P.M.. Despite of the expectations the water leakage at many locations was observed, especially at the lower left corner where the water pressure reaches is maximum value. The water leakage from the anchor bolts compare to the West line was much smaller. Since the water leakage was higher than the input water, the CONCO crews were unable to fill the form completely. The crews are planning to fix the problems of the East line form and move to the other side and water test the West line forms again tomorrow, which the repair is already done.
